

Five Days in the Life of Teenager during a School
Holiday

Day One

- I've had an OK day today. I got up at 12 am, ate cookie crisp for breakfast. Mum went out to supermarket during the afternoon. I wasn't on my own for too long though. Mum only bought food for lunch.
- I checked my mobile phone during lunch - one of my friends texted me early in the morning and I'd only just noticed it! I sent back a reply and apologised for not replying sooner.
- After lunch I sat around watching TV and finishing my English / History / German / Science homework.
- Had dinner at about 6:30, I had a microwave pizza and crinkle chips. I went upstairs, finished off my English homework, I listened to music for a while, came back downstairs at about 7:15, surfed the internet. Watched a film.

Day two

- I woke up at 10:45, Mum and I went into town. Afterwards, we phoned mum's mate and her daughter (my mate) to ask if we could come round afterwards, as we hadn't seen each other for months!
- We stayed at our friends house for an hour and a half - during that time me and my mate browsed the internet Afterwards we went to supermarket to get dinner - microwave Indian meal for three (mum, dad, me).

Day three

- I woke up at 10pm, I think. Mum and I went back into Maidstone today, as we needed to get the Sunday Roast stuff for, well, Sunday. We also bought fish and chips for lunch and I bought some new funky spider pens. Ever since then, I have been surfing the internet, eating dinner (sausages, mash, beans) and watching a bit of TV.

Day Four

- Mum went to work today, I did some more homework and in the afternoon I surfed the internet. Mum left me out lunch before she went. I also prayed at about 2pm.
- Now watching channel FIVE.

Day five

- I woke up at 2pm, and so did my mum. We went to supermarket at 3:30pm - where mum kept meeting her friends, and we chatted for 2 hours! When we got home, it was already time for dinner(sausage, egg and chips). Afterwards, I did much homework until 2am - and I'm not joking!

The End!!!

